(a)—Data are from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and are based on the federal regulatory Report of Condition or "call report", for banks and their domestic subsidiaries only. Since 12/31/78, data are based on the call reports of medium and large banks only.
(b)—Includes commercial banks and mutual savings banks. (See footnotes (h) and (i) for further details.)
(c)—Until 6/30/82, included only the following two deposit items from Schedule F of the large banks' call report: "deposits of foreign branches of U.S. banks" (item 6a) and "deposits of banks in foreign countries" (item 6b). Since 6/30/82, American Banker redefined "Deposits Due Foreign Banks" to include "deposits of foreign governments and official institutions' '(Sch. F, item 4) and "deposits due U.S. branches and agencies of foreign banks" (Sch. F, item 5a). Excluded from the new definition is "deposits due the foreign branches of U.S. banks" (item 6a), which is now included in "Deposits Due Domestic Banks." In addition, now included in "Deposits Due Foreign Banks" are Edge Act banks' "deposits due U.S. banks", "deposits due foreign banks", and "deposits due foreign governments and official institutions". (The Edge banking components are shown separately in the table on page 48.)
(d)—Since 6/30/82, "Total Deposits Due Banks" reflects changes in definition of "Deposits Due Foreign Banks" described in footnote (c) above.
(e)—Total deposits in domestic offices of all medium and large banks only, excluding Edge bank subsidiary deposits. Total Edge bank deposits are shown in the table on page 48.
(E)— Breakdowns for deposits due to domestic and foreign banks are estimated from FDIC data.
(f)— Ratio of demand deposits due domestic banks to total domestic deposits.
(g)—Excludes deposits due mutual savings banks which were not available.
(h)—The sum of the following items from Schedule F: item 1d—deposits of mutual savings banks; item 5a—deposits of the U.S. branches and agencies of foreign banks; and item 5b—Deposits of other U.S. commercial banks.
(I)—The sum of the following items: from Schedule F: item Id— deposits of mutual savings banks; item 5b— deposits of other U.S. commercial banks; and item 6a—deposits due foreign branches of U.S. banks.

This statistical tabulation was prepared under the direction of L. Michael Cacace by Harvey Glassman, Theresia Gerber, and Kenneth J. Hicks.

(a)—In the table entitled "Deposits Due to Foreign Banks," American Banker lists all U.S. commercial banks with $10 million or more in demand deposits due to foreign banks as defined in footnote (b) below. This table shows the Edge Act banking subsidiary component of this total for Edge banks with such deposits. Data for Edges were provided to the American Banker by the Federal Reserve Board and are for the Edge and its domestic branches only. For Edges with domestic branches, the data are the combined sum of the deposits in its head offices and branches. For banks with more than one Edge subsidiary, deposits in all of its Edge subsidiaries were summed to obtain the Edge banking component. (b) —Demand deposits due foreign banks is defined as the sum of the following items. For the banks and its domestic subsidiaries, it is the sum of the following items from the Report of Condition, Schedule F: demand deposits due foreign governments and official institutions; demand deposits due the U.S. branches and agencies of foreign banks; and demand deposits due foreign banks in foreign countries. For the Edge subsidiary, it is the sum of demand deposits due foreign governments and official institutions; demand deposits due U.S. banks; and demand deposits due foreign banks. (c)—The sum of deposits due foreign governments and official institutions; deposits due U.S. banks; and deposits due foreign banks for the Edge and its domestic branches combined. For banks with more than one Edge subsidiary, the figure shown is the sum for all their Edge subsidiaries. (d)—A subsidiary of M.. and Bank Plc., London, which also owns Crocker National Bank. (e) —Owns more than one Edge. Figures shown are the combined sum of balances in these Edges.

Closing of Dallas-Area Thrift Stirs New Fears of Brokered-Deposit Crisis

By ANDREW ALBERT

A wave of new thrift industry problems in suburban Dallas could soon follow this week's closing of Empire Savings and Loan Association in Mesquite, Texas, industry sources in that state said Thursday.

Empire had grown rapidly by accepting brokered deposits and then funneling them into condominium loans, some of which were "barely worth the paper they were printed on," according to Edwin J. Gray, chairman of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

On Wednesday, Mr. Gray used a congressional hearing as an opportunity to announce that the board had closed Empire, thus dramatizing his case for placing limits on money brokers.

In the wake of the Empire failure, several Dallas-area S&Ls are preparing to foreclose on condominium investors and developers as early as next week, according to local thrift officials.

One Texas thrift executive, who requested anonymity, said several other area S&Ls involved with the same condo projects could also be headed for collapse in the near future. He said those thrifts accepted large sums of deposits from money brokers in order to help finance the real estate deals.

Record Merger Activity Hikes Deposits at the Top 300 Banks

By L. MICHAEL CACACE

NEW YORK — Almost one dollar out of every five in new deposits at the nation's top 300 banks in 1983 was obtained through mergers, the American Banker found in its annual survey of the top 300 banks, being published today.

Last year, 55 of the top 300 acquired a record 131 banks, with combined deposits of $12 billion. The sum of the deposits acquired through mergers accounted for 19% of the $63 billion gain in deposits posted by the top 300 banks. Total deposits of the top 300 were $1.115 trillion on Dec. 31, 1983, compared with $1.052 trillion a year earlier.

In 1982, the previous record year for merger activity, 59 of the top 300 banks acquired 93 other banks with combined deposits of $11.4 billion. And these deposits obtained through mergers accounted for 18% of the deposit growth of the top 300 banks in 1982.

Three major reasons account for the surge in merger activity over the past two years. The prospect of interstate banking has caused some banks to merge

Prudential Bank to Offer Jumbo CDs

Insured to $1 Million, Venture Will Be Bank's Liability Product Debut

By LYNN BRENNER

NEW YORK — Prudential Bank & Trust, a subsidiary of Prudential Insurance Co. of America, will be marketing "pre-arranged car leases, and jumbo certificates of deposit" insured up to $1 million, through Prudential-Bache Securities "in the next two or three months," George Ball, president and chief executive officer of the securities firm said in an interview Thursday.

The first $100,000 of the jumbo CD will be FDIC insured, Mr. Ball said, and an additional $900,000 of insurance will be provided by Prudential Reinsurance Co. The additional insurance will be available to other banks as well, he added.

Although the Hapeville, Ga.-based Prudential Bank now markets home equity loans through Pru-Bache, its main business, since its acquisition by the giant insurer last year, has been selling an asset/liability management model to medium-size banks. There are plans to introduce other, unspecified correspondent banking products within the next few months.

The jumbo CD will be an expansion of Prudential Bank's consumer business and its first big liability product.

At a Prudential press conference on Wednesday, executives had indicated that Prudential Bank & Trust would concentrate on asset rather than liability products. According to Mr. Ball, Prudential has no current plans to generate additional assets by further acquisitions. The Prudential family "has everything we need now to create any

Continental Might Sell Card Division

By RICHARD RINGER

CHICAGO — Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust Co. of Chicago might put its credit card division on the selling block.

A bank spokesman said Thursday that top management is "giving serious consideration to the possible sale" of its Town & Country card subsidiary. Internal discussions about the sale have been under way at the bank for several months, the spokesman said.

Another spokesman said that Continental has retained Goldman, Sachs & Co., the New York investment banker, as an adviser for the sale. This spokesman was unable to confirm reports that Goldman Sachs on Wednesday distributed a prospectus to possible buyers of the card business.

A Goldman Sachs official was unavailable for comment.

Issuing a prospectus would be an initial step for a public offering of the card business. However, Continental could also solicit private offerings.

Continental's announcement comes just three weeks after David E. Taylor, vice chairman and chief executive officer, told a press conference that Continental would get out of businesses that don't fit the bank's strategic goals.

Mr. Taylor, tapped to become Continental's chairman at the bank's annual meeting next month, became chief executive officer during a top management shake-up last month.

In a letter distributed Thursday to Town & Country employees, Mr. Taylor wrote, "At this time, I do not know specifically how any potential transfer of this business would affect the future employment of charge card personnel. I can promise that we would do our best to provide job search and other assistance to any employee who is not of-

(a)—Includes only common stock unless otherwise noted. (b)—Includes reserve for contingencies and other capital reserves. *—1983 data may not be exactly comparable to 1982 data, because some banks used Federal regulatory data one year and public statements, based on general accounting principals ("gap"), in the other year. In addition, 1983 and 1982 data may not be comparable because of mergers, acquisitions, etc. The 1982 data shown are as reported in 1983 and have not been restated. [2]—Includes subordinated debt and/or preferred stock in addition to common stock capital. [3]—Includes subordinated debt assumed by parent. N.A.— Not available.

(a)—Includes only common stock unless otherwise noted. (b)—Includes reserve for contingencies and other capital reserves. *—1983 data may not be exactly comparable to 1982 data, because some banks used Federal regulatory data one year and public statements, based on general accounting principals ("gap"), in the other year. In addition, 1983 and 1982 data may not be comparable because of mergers, acquisitions, etc. The 1982 data shown are as reported in 1983 and have not been restated. [2]—Includes subordinated debt and/or preferred stock in addition to common stock capital. [3]—Includes subordinated debt assumed by parent. N.A.—Not available.
